MOSLEMS AID HINDU REVOLT IN NEW MOVE

Mohammedan Population of Empire Becomes Restless Today

Bombay, India, May 17.—(AP)—Growing unrest among the Mohammedan population of India was viewed with concern in European circles here today. Coupled with progress of the hindu civil disobedience campaign the situation provided a particularly disquieting outlook.

Moslems, who, for weeks have abstained from participation in the civil disobedience campaign, now appear to be drawing near the Nationalist leaders through agitation of a cause entirely exterior to India itself—treatment of Moslems in Palestine.

Moslem quarters here observed a hartal or day of protest Friday in sympathy with the Arabs of Palestine. The Moslems celebrated a "Palestine Day," and passed resolutions warning the British that if Moslem claims in Palestine were not satisfied the Mohammedans would take steps to compel recognition.

The Moslems staged a huge parade carrying banners inscribed "Down with the Balfour Declaration," and other pro-Arab mottoes.

WHOLESALE ROUNDUP BY FRANCIS LOW

Bombay, May 17.—(UP)—Passive resistance volunteers were rounded up in wholesale lots today as the British government followed up the advantage it gained when it crushed Mrs. Sarojini Naidu's first move as Mahatma Gandhi's successor.

The volunteers, however, were not depressed by Mrs. Naidu's failure to effect a raid on the three-threatened Dharasana salt works. Another group of 50, some of them among the party which had remained with Mrs. Naidu throughout a 28 hour "siege" near the Dharasana works, left camp at Untari again this morning intending to effect the raid.

The group was stopped by the alert native police at almost the exact spot where Mrs. Naidu's party was halted Thursday, and once more volunteers and police sat opposite each other in "passive resistance."

Admits Failure
Mrs. Naidu, who has been likened to Joan of Arc by her countrymen, rested today at the volunteers' camp where the police had taken her when they forcibly removed the raiders after a stalemate lasting 28 hours, each side waiting for the other to act. Mrs. Naidu admitted her mission had failed.

"Having led the first group, there is nothing more for me to do," she said. She expected to return to Bombay in a day or two.

While the police and volunteers entered their second stalemate at Dharasana police guarding the Shiroda salt works took more violent action against a large group of Satyagrahis who attempted to raid the works there. Many volunteers were injured and about 200 arrested when the police rushed the raiders and dispersed them.

Another group of 224 volunteers was arrested at Dharasana on charges of participating in an unlawful assembly. Bailiwal, Parisi, son of Dr. S. S. Bhatnagar, former mayor of Bombay was among them.

Dawes Not Coming Home Until Fall

London, May 17.—(AP)—Ambassador Dawes today, commenting upon reports that he would return soon to Washington, said he was not applying for leave to visit America until September when he was going there in connection with his duties as chairman of the finance committee of the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition. He said he would return from Chicago to resume his duties as Ambassador.

The Ambassador was informed of the reports from Washington that he intended to confer with President Hoover with regard to the naval treaty, and to tender his resignation. His answer was contained in a formal statement.

"The Ambassador states that he will not apply for his regular leave of absence until next September, when he will go to Chicago in connection with his duties as chairman of the finance committee of the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition. At the end of his leave he will return to his duties at London."

Some Oddities In Wire News Today From Various Parts

NEW MACHINE AGE.

Chicago, May 17.—(AP)—The machine age has come, finally, to the bird nest industry.

A neat example of what's what in modern pigeon architecture was found today at 166 West Monroe street. It is built between a brick wall and an electric sign, two stories up.

The nest is constructed of paper clips, nails, wire, carpet tracks, pencil stubs, bits of string and paper, burnt match sticks, toothpicks, rubber bands, and a length of yellow ribbon.

In it are two eggs and a proud, portly parent pigeon.

DOG WAS JEALOUS.

Chicago, May 17.—(AP)—Curiosity killed a cat. Jealously killed a dog. Bingo, a police dog owned by Edward Thilgie, became uncontrollably jealous last night when his master offered a piece of pie to a strange dog. He growled and glared at Thilgie as the strange dog devoured the pastry. He leaped at Thilgie, biting him in the arm and leg. Thilgie was unable to drive the dog off, and bystanders could not help him. A policeman ran in and killed the animal. Thilgie was taken to a hospital.

JUST "BORROWS" BABY.

Chicago, May 17.—(AP)—The Michael Moroneys, who sought relief from straightened circumstances by appealing to the "help for the needy" column of a newspaper, have received a note signed by the young woman who abducted their two-year-old baby, Mary Agnes, Thursday.

"Don't worry about the baby," the note said. "I am taking her to California. You can spare her for two months. I'll take good care of her, and will help you, too, with money while we are away."

The note, wrapped around a $5 banknote, was mailed to the Moroneys last night. It was signed by "Julia Otis," which was the name given by the woman who carried the baby away Thursday.

"Julia Otis" visited the Moroneys home following the notice in the newspaper. Thursday she left with the baby, explaining she was going to buy her a new outfit. That was the last seen of them.

The police believe mother hunger prompted the abduction.

PAPER DEMANDS U. S. LIBERTY OR DEATH OF G. O. P.

Editorial In Seattle Star Warns Millions Are Near Dry Revolt

Seattle, May 16.—The Seattle Star, a Scripps-Canfield paper, yesterday spread the following editorial on the top half of its first page.

The editorial is of special consequence because of the action of the recent Republican convention of Seattle repudiating the prohibition and league court policies of the national Republican administration, and because of the state Republican convention, which is to assemble at Belham on Saturday, May 24.

DEMANDS FREE U. S.

The editorial in the Seattle Star bears the following headline: "Liberty for the People, or Death for the G. O. P."

The text of the editorial is as follows:

"In the past dozen years meddlers and busybodies have imposed on us outrageous interferences with our private lives. They have attempted to force these un-American regulations by Cossack methods borrowed from Czarist Russia; by imperialistic tyranny copied from pre-war Prussia.

"They have forced state legislatures to bow to their will. They have demanded the imposition of their ideas and steadfastly fought any attempt of the people as a whole to express an opinion.

"As a result, government today is chaotic, oppressive, intolerant. It is leading the people rapidly toward revolution. Probably peaceful, by ballot. Perhaps otherwise.

"Intolerance in government that began during the war hysteria, festered and flourished after the peace pact when it should have been stamped out.

"Today our statute books are filled with summary regulatory laws. Prisons are jammed. Millions of our workers are jobless. Our people are tax-ridden and despondent everywhere. One man in every eleven wears a badge and is fed by huge tax levies to snoop and prey into the private affairs of the rest of us.

"It's time we turned this nation back to the people. Bigger than the prohibition question, bigger than any issue before the American people today is the matter of ridding the United States of fanaticism, cossackism, snooper and bigotry in government.

"Republicans must take the lead. It is primarily their responsibility. They should start it Saturday in the state convention at Bellingham. Unless the party voluntarily leads a return to American ideals, enforced by American methods, the people themselves will force it, by a ballot-revolution if necessary."

Youth Kills Wife, Then Drowns Self

St. Louis, Mo., May 17.—(AP)—Lovell Dutton, 23, of Bellflower, Mo., yesterday fatally slugged his wife, Mrs. Nellie Dutton, 21, attacked her mother, Mrs. Frank Campbell with an iron pipe and committed suicide by leaping into the Missouri river from the St. Charles vehicular bridge. The skulls of both women were fractured.

Mrs. Dutton died in Missouri Baptist hospital half an hour after the premature birth of her dead baby boy. Mrs. Campbell's condition was regarded as serious.

Dutton, talking with a neighbor several hours before the tragedy, blamed Mrs. Campbell and her husband for separating him from his wife. He was the son of a minister at Bellflower and once was a divinity student.

NOTHING FISHY ABOUT THIS FISH STORY

Here's a Rare Aquatic Acrobat That Actually Stands Erect and Leaps over Hurdles

Here's a steeplechase fish that actually leaps the hurdles—and it isn't just another "fish story," either. This queer "walking fish" recently exhibited at a Chicago sportsmen's show actually does move over the ground, stand erect and jump—and if you doubt it, here's the camera's evidence. These fish are found in small streams in India and Egypt and have been known to travel long distances overland.

REFERENDUM ON PROHIBITION IN STATE IS ASKED

Cook Co. Democrats to Circulate Petition Asking For Vote

Chicago, May 17.—(AP)—Anton J. Cermack, chairman of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee, yesterday injected into the November election a movement for a statewide referendum on prohibition.

Cermack, who is President of the Board of County Commissioners, said petitions would be circulated next week to obtain the 350,000 signatures necessary before the referendum can be placed on the ballot.

While the exact wording has not been determined, Cermack said the proposition would be based upon the following questions:

1.—Shall Congress pass a resolution for repeal of the eighteenth amendment?

2.—Shall Congress repeal the Volstead act?

3.—Shall the Illinois General Assembly repeal the state search and seizure act?

Although both Republican and Democratic leaders in Cook county were said to have discussed recently the advisability of sponsoring the referendum, Cermack declared that "the Democratic party is the wet party and as long as I am chairman of the County Central Committee, there will be no pussyfooting on the wet-dry question."

PRESIDENT WILL GO BACK TO OLD QUAKER WORSHIP

New Meeting House To Be Devoted To Original Worship

BY SUE McNAMARA
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, May 17.—(AP)—From the dignity and ceremony of the White House to the quiet simplicity of the oldtime "Quaker meeting," famed for its long silences, President Hoover will go for worship when the proposed new Washington Friends' Meeting House is completed.

The President it is understood, is going back to the original form of Quaker worship which is entirely devoid of frills in the way of music or paid pastors.

The new meeting house, toward the erection of which the President and Mrs. Hoover are contributing substantially, will not be large. It will seat between three and four hundred persons. There will be no organ or choir loft. There will be no paid preacher. Occasionally a "recommended preacher," one who has received the sanction of some other congregation but who receives no salary, will give a talk.

Though plans for the interior are not yet definitely decided there will probably be a "facing gallery" in which the elders and visiting pastors will sit. This will place them at one end of the little edifice opposite the congregation. This gallery is a feature of all the oldtime meeting houses.

Speaking Inspirational

Speaking will be largely inspirational from members of the congregation. The oldtime Quakers spoke "when the spirit moved them."

There will be long periods of silence broken only by the rustling of leaves outside the windows or perhaps the ticking of the clock.

In these surroundings the President will inevitably be carried back to his boyhood days in West Branch, Iowa. In the little Quaker church out there he used to sit with his brother Theodore and his cousin George and look out across the waving green cornfields and the white elderberry blossoms along Wopsinoc Creek.

It was here that his mother, Huda Hoover used to receive "the message," as the inspiration to preach was called by the Quakers. Sometimes she would be gone for weeks at a time, speaking in surrounding towns, often driving for miles into the country to reach some plain little meeting house far from the railroads. It was while buffetting a winter storm to reach the little Quaker settlement of Springdale to preach that she caught a cold which resulted in her death.

It is expected the new preacherless church will not be ready for the President's attendance until late in the fall.

Former Texas Judge Sentenced To Cell

Dallas, Tex., May 17.—(UP)—John W. Brady, former Appellate Court Judge, was sentenced to a three-year penitentiary term by a District Court, jury here today charged with the knife slaying of Miss Leahia Highsmith, Austin stenographer, last Nov. 9.

Brady's stoical reserve which has sustained him through six months in jail and two trials broke when the verdict was announced and he wept.

Brady was held guilty of murder, but without malice, and that degree of crime is punishable by not more than five years in prison.

Defense Attorney Ted Monroe immediately announced an appeal would be taken in the hope of reversing the case.

Danville Jeweler Kidnapped; Robbed

Chicago, May 17.—(AP)—W. L. Akers, Danville jeweler, who with his wife and son was kidnapped in Danville last night and brought to Bellwood, a suburb, after four bandits had robbed the store of which he was manager, today told Bellwood police the loss would approximate $25,000.

This estimate he based on a report from Danville police that the store the Spritz Jewelry Company, had been "cleaned out" of diamonds and valuable jewelry, along with $400 in cash.

Akers and his wife and son, Jack, two years-old, were left alongside Mannheim Road, near Bellwood early today by three of the four robbers. The fourth, Akers said, remained behind in Danville.

TWO NEGROES, WHITE, FEEL FURY OF MOBS

One Negro Shot Dead Other Wounded By Tennessee Posse

BULLETIN

Oakdale, Tenn., May 17.—(UP)—A posse of 500 men cornered and shot a Negro named "Mobile" today in a thicket after tracking him almost two days through the brush. Seven bullets hit the Negro but he is expected to recover.

"Mobile" was sought for stabbing eight times Marion Goodman, Southern Railway Special Agent. Thursday, after Goodman had arrested him, "Mobile" also is wanted in connection with slaying of a railway agent at Birmingham, Ala., three months ago.

BY UNITED PRESS

Three Texas communities bore marks of mob fury today. At Honey Grove a mob shot to death a Negro who had killed a white man, chained the Negro's body to an automobile and dragged it through the town before hanging it to a tree and setting it afire.

Officers successfully protected Joe Shields, a white man, from a mob that formed when Shields killed his wife, her father and her mother.

In Sherman, Tex., where a week ago a mob burned the courthouse in vengeance against a Negro, 32 men were under arrest, charged with inciting the riot. Sherman is under military law.

MOB'S VENGEANCE

Honey Grove, Tex., May 17.—(UP)—Pierced with bullets and charred with fire, the body of a Negro who killed a white man lay in a cemetery outside this northeastern Texas town today, the victim of a mob whose violence marked the second vengeance of its kind within a week.

Order had been restored among the 900 people of Honey Grove after a night of fury that threatened momentarily to approach the spirit that raged at Sherman, Texas, in an adjoining county, just a week previously.

Within a few hours after Sam Johnson, a Negro, shot and killed E. F. Fortenberry, 50, a white landowner, a mob of 400 men had besieged the Negro in his refuge and filled him with bullets. They chained his body to an automobile and dragged it through the Negro section of town, strung it from the limb of a tree, saturated it with gasoline and set it ablaze.

Its task ended, the mob dispersed without further trouble. Creeping stealthily from their shanties where they had cowered while the mob fury raged, a few Negroes cut down the swaying figure and hurried it to a Negro cemetery.

Drama moved speedily and ruthlessly from the time Fortenberry and his friend, Tom Hannard, called yesterday afternoon at the cabin of Sam Johnson to inquire about his rent. They found Johnson packing his belongings, apparently about to leave.

LOVELY MAY

(To be sung to the tune of "Lightly Row.")
LOVELY MAY, lovely May,
"Come ye all, come ye all."
Decks the world with blossoms gay.
Thus the flowers call.
Sparkles now the sunny dale,
Fragrant is the flowery vale;
Songs of bird, song of bird,
In the grove is heard.

Lightly pass lightly pass,
Thro' the nodding meadow grass,
Woodlands bright, Woodlands bright,
Wake from winter's night.
Where the silver brooklet flows,
Rippling softly as it goes,
Will we rest will we rest,
In green mossy nest.

Saturday, May 24th Is Designated Poppy Day

Chicago May 17—(AP)—Saturday May 24, has been designated as Poppy Day in Illinois.

On that day hundreds of members of the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute the poppies in Illinois cities and turn the proceeds over to relief funds for the disabled veterans and their families. Mrs. George M. Kellogg department president of Illinois announced today.

More than 10,000,000 poppies have been made by disabled veterans in 37 hospitals in all parts of the country for Poppy Day. Disabled veterans in four Illinois hospitals Edward Hines, Jr., Danville, Elgin and Dwight, have been paid at the rate of one-half cent each for the poppies they made.

"The poppy sale is a patriotic endeavor, similar to the work which the women of America carried out during the World War," Mrs. Kellogg said. "The purpose of the sale is to honor the memory of the men whose lives were sacrificed in the war and to help lighten the burden for those who came back disabled."

"Today, nearly twelve years after the close of the war, there are almost 30,000 veterans still under treatment in government hospitals. A large percentage of these men receive no government compensation and have dependent families at home. Thousands of other disabled veterans, not in the hospitals, are fighting an uphill battle to re-establish themselves in life and overcome the economic handicap of their disabilities."

"It is for these men, their families and the families of those who have died that the poppy money is spent."

Mrs. Kellogg has estimated that more than 10,000,000 poppies will be sold on Poppy Day throughout the country by the 100,000 women who will conduct the campaign. Basing their production upon the returns of former years, the Auxiliary officials estimate that the 1930 sale will bring in more than $1,000,000 for the relief work of the American Legion and the Auxiliary.

Tuning in on the Talkies by Walhill

WE now have "hit and run" movies. When a talkie scores a hit with the fans in the big cities it is sure of a long run.

Frank Fay, in "Under a Texas Moon," opines that "travel broadens the mind and flattens the feet."

Another raid on Ziegfeld's congress of pulchritude. Claudia Dell filled Warner Bros. collective eye as just the type for "Sweet Kitty Belairs."

Not every girl with bow legs is named Clara.

There are said to have been seven original jokes and some talkies have included them all.

"When False Tongues Speak" you are listening to a talkie.

"Uneasy Money" seldom comes to rest in a savings bank.

For "Double Feature" Day "His Narrow Escape" "Almost a Husband"

Enriching the Slangage Says Winnie Lightner to Joe E. Brown, in "Hold Everything!" "You may be riding in a taxi, but it's empty."

You May Have Noticed

The movie sign read: "The Good-Bye Kiss" with sound." And the radio announcer said: "Singing in the Bath Tub" by permission of the copyright owner."

"The Ladies, Bless 'Em!"

"Love Makes Women Wild" but has made many a man.

"Pointed Heels" contribute their share to "Loose Ankles."

"The Woman Who Fooled Herself" probably fooled nobody else.

"Why Women Re-Marry" is another mystery the movies have solved.

Dixon Members Attend Shrine Meet, Mendota

The Mendota Reporter has the following to say of the White Shrine initiation and special meeting held there Tuesday evening:

Two candidates, Mr. and Mrs. Winn Davis of Triumph were taken into the Galilee Shrine. White Shrine of Jerusalem, on Tuesday evening. The initiatory degrees were conferred by the past officers of Galilee Shrine. A banquet was served at 6:30 o'clock and the degree work followed. The drill team of Dixon was present and put on their drill which was very beautiful. The honored guest was Mrs. Aida Bauer of St. Louis, past officer and supreme guardian. Another honored guest was Mrs. Anna Pich of Chicago, past supreme worthy high priestess. During the evening Mrs. Josie Tapper, Miss Bertha Vogler and Mr. Otto Schildberg rendered several vocal selections. Guests were present from Dixon, Peru, Polo and Ottawa.

The White Shrine patrol team accompanied by Miss Bernice Wilhelm, who is the Worthy High Priestess of donation and the War Mothers was the second one received by the finance chairman. The gardens sponsored and made beautiful at Edward Hines Jr. hospital by the War Mothers will be dedicated June 19th, with proper ceremonies. There are ten of these gardens and much praise is given to the Mothers for making these places desirable for the patients to rest and enjoy the sunshine.

A short program commemorating Mothers Day was given and the meeting closed with singing two verses of "Blest be the Tie that Binds". Carnations were given to the men in the County Jail on Mother's Day and each one received them with thanks and immediately placed them to wear in memory of their mothers.

"Old Fashioned Mother," Much in Demand

By some strange coincidence, the play "An Old Fashioned Mother," which has been so successfully produced recently under the auspices of the Brotherhood class of the Dixon Congregational church, was also given in Rock Falls Thursday evening by members of the Lutheran church of that city.

Learning of this fact, the Dixon cast decided to have a beefsteak fry picnic at Lawrence Park, Sterling, and afterward to attend the initial performance of the Rock Falls group that evening which plan was carried out.

The Dixon people, having given the play several times in Dixon and vicinity, greatly enjoyed witnessing the rendition of the same play by the people of our neighboring city.

At the close of the performance, congratulations were extended to the members of the Rock Falls cast, by the Dixon group and a hearty invitation also given them to witness the Dixon cast in a performance to be given in Sterling at the Trinity Evangelical church on Wednesday evening, May 21, which invitation was cordially accepted.

Fifth Wedding Anniversary Was Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crawford of Third street yesterday celebrated their fifth anniversary, and in the evening a company of relatives numbering about twenty called at their home, (entering by the back door, by the way,) and gave them a hearty surprise. They celebrated the "wooden anniversary," in a jolly manner, presenting the couple with all sorts of funny gifts, from a night cap to a stick of wood for the furnace. There was much fun and everyone spent an exceedingly happy evening. Mrs. C. French of St. Paul, Minn., sister of Mr. Crawford, was present with her 3 children. Delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and candy were enjoyed and at a late hour all departed wishing the couple many happy wedding anniversaries in the future.

Meeting Sunshine Class Was Enjoyed

The monthly meeting of the Sunshine class was held in the Lutheran church parlors Thursday evening and was greatly enjoyed by over thirty members and friends.

A song service and brief devotions were followed by an enthusiastic business session, with plans for the coming summer.

Miss Dorothy Irey's piano solo "Schergo in E Minor" and encore "Gold Fishes," were much appreciated, also two readings by Miss Kay.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Jessie Pollett, Mrs. Hannah Martenson, Mrs. Mary Peterson, Mrs. Laura Heines and Mrs. Etta Toot.

D. D. D. Club Was Happily Entertained

Misses Ingaletta Robertson and Mary Evelyn Miller were hostesses on Thursday evening to the members of the D. D. D. club, entertaining at the Miller home on North Ottawa avenue. Bridge was the diversion and Miss Aida Holdridge won the favor for high honors and Miss Gladys Ireland won the second favor. Miss Esther Kested was awarded the consolation favor. The Miller home was fragrant with spring flowers. After bridge tempting refreshments completed the delightful evening for all attending.

Lee Co. Chapter American War Mothers Meet

The Lee County Chapter American War Mothers held their regular meeting Friday afternoon in G. A. H. Hall. There was a very good attendance and a complete report of the sale of carnations was given. The names of the children selling over ten dollars of the flowers are Dorothy Miller, Eleanor Jane Fisher, Catherine Herman, Martha Miller, Gladys Kanler, Pansy Stonecipher, Nona Bowser, Helen Lough, Lilly Spencer and one mother, Mrs. Anna Ahlschager. Others assisting Gladys Madgen, June Lincoln, Georgia Mae Eastman, Mary Keyser, Atkinson sisters, Dorothy Harvey, Mournie Stonecipher, Russell Lenox, Joyce Newcomb, Virginia Lenox, Marie Hinson, Irene Howe, Phillip Watts, Georgia Summers. ### Methodist W. H. M. S. Meeting Thursday

Thursday afternoon the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church met with Mrs. Edward Dawson for the annual election of officers. It was the largest meeting of the year.

The president, Mrs. Bills, opened the meeting by having all sing "America the Beautiful." Mrs. Peterson read the parable of the Lost Sheep from Luke 15. She also read two short poems and spoke a few words along the line of the parable. Mrs. Thomson offered prayer.

The reports showed that we have an increase in Mite Box money and Birthday offering, and our pledge paid in full. The society also has a net increase in members. Two new members were reported for May. The poem read by Mrs. Alice Anderson, "Praise God for Work Already Done" fitted in nicely after these reports.

Mrs. Anderson had received a letter from Mrs. Mae Woodruff, a national officer, which was written in recognition of the five "Daffodil Members" sent in by her. Much credit is due Mrs. Anderson for our new members this year. She has been a "Go-Doer" twice.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Blake Grover, Miss Vaage, Mrs. A. D. George and the officers for their part in making the Birthday party a success.

Mrs. Hiram Hettler, 622 Hennepin avenue, is 87 years of age Saturday, May 17. She is a charter member of the society and all are asked to send her birthday cards.

Our district meeting will be held in Sycamore, May 22-23. As many as can should go. Mrs. Peterson will go as our delegate and Mrs. Ed Dawson as alternate.

Mrs. Clara Rowe gave a very interesting talk on Christian Stewardship and Evangelism in which she emphasized the giving of ourselves as well as our money.

Mrs. Henry Hintz had charge of the program which was on the Negro. Several articles were read on Booker T. Washington, Lincoln, Dr. Hale Williams, Robt. Moulton and the negro singer Roland Hayes. Mrs. A. D. George, accompanied by Mrs. Morrill, favored us with the singing of two Negro Spirituals. An article was then read showing the origin of the Spiritual and how they were produced.

The officers for the coming year are as follows:

President—Mrs. H. D. Bills.

First Vice—Mrs. Brewster.

Second Vice—Mrs. Alice Anderson.

Third Vice—Mrs. A. T. Stephenson.

Recording Secretary—Miss Flora L. Seals.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. John Peterson.

Treasurer—Miss Estella Anderson.

Assistant Treasurer—Mrs. S. J. Mail.

Our next meeting will be held with Mrs. George Carpenter. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mail's group.

Washington Women Still Favor the Bob

Washington—(AP)—The bob is still fashionable in Washington.

A recent Pan American concert where much of the beauty and fashion of the two Americas is seen, there were many bobbed heads. While most of them were trimly outlined with a simple, slightly waved coiffure there were many original ideas displayed.

One woman from Buenos Aires wore her black hair parted in the middle and brushed sleekly back over the ears. The long ends were flared out on each side in the back. She wore emerald combs.

FLEETS OF TWO KINDS.

Even if the cause of world peace does some day progress far enough to make disarmament possible, it may be necessary for us to maintain a big navy simply for the sake of the spectacle it provides.

Nothing on earth gives quite the thrill that comes from the sight of a great fleet steaming along on its way. The thing is in a class by itself. Even the most confirmed pacifist can hardly help feeling a tingling in his spine at the sight.

The United States fleet descended on New York the other day, and the rest of the country got a slice of New York's thrill through the newspapers and moving pictures.

The navy stages its pageants beautifully, and this one was no exception.

First, out of the sea-mists at the entrance to the harbor, came the battleships, gray and ponderous, majestic and sinister. Then came the lean, graceful cruisers with flags flutter, the knife-edged destroyers, the unromantic but necessary supply and repair ships, the plodding submarines—five dozen ships of war, with enough concentrated destruction in their innards to blow New York off the face of the earth.

It was a great spectacle; and fully as impressive was the sight of the vast fleet anchored in the Hudson later. But there was a sideshow to this spectacle that hinted, very quietly, that this tremendous fleet may be out of date in the very near future, disarmed or no disarmed.

For this great fleet was greeted by another great fleet, less bulky but equally thrilling to look at—a group of 140 naval airplanes that circled over New York in geometric formations, dived-down with roaring motors and saluted the gray warships as they steamed slowly along the bay. And if the surface fleet was potential destruction on a huge scale, so was the aerial fleet. If those warships could have destroyed New York in half an hour, so could the airplanes.

So this naval demonstration left us, once more, with a question: which of these two fleets is the stronger? Is the airplane making the warship obsolete, or is it merely supplementing it and giving the navy a new weapon to use in conjunction with its surface vessels?

A great many people would like to know the answer. We civilians, who also want enlightenment, can only hope that there will never be an occasion to settle the matter in combat with a foe. Meanwhile, we might remember that that whole fleet of 12 dozen airplanes cost less than one of the dreadnaughts on the water below.

NO ABUSE OF POWER.

Now that the shouting about the Senate's rejection of Justice Parker's appointment to the supreme court has died down, we might just as well get straightened out on one thing.

Regardless of whether the Senate did wisely or otherwise in rejecting the appointment, there is no basis whatever for the complaint that the Senate was straining its powers in presuming to pass on it at all.

The writers of our constitution described their plan for the federal government as a system of checks and balances, with the executive, legislative and judicial branches all held within bounds by their powers over each other. The Senate was given the power to pass on presidential appointments for this reason, and in the Parker case it simply exercised that power in the manner designed by the constitution.

What the Senate did may not have been unwise; it quite certainly was in no sense an abuse of power.

DUCKING THE SCOLDS.

The news that a Pittsburgh man has been convicted as a common scold under a law several hundred years old reminds us that our forefathers, while devoid of those modern scientific methods of dealing with lawbreakers which are our rightful pride, nevertheless had one or two ideas about things that were all to the good.

After all, life holds few greater nuisances than the chap who always has a grievance and is always shooting off his mouth about it. In colonial days the ducking stool was reserved for such; and while its victims were generally women, there is no reason why men should not get ducked occasionally too.

About the merits of this Pittsburgh citizen's case, of course, we know nothing; but the general idea suits us perfectly. A lot of suburban neighborhoods would be a lot more peaceful and quiet if this law could be revived extensively all over the country.

Our guess is that Lindy would rather fly his plane upside down across the country than make a nomination for the supreme court.

Speaking of pianos reminds us of the little boy who thumped loudly on the instrument soon after a death in the family. When reprimanded he said: "It's all right, I'm playing on the black keys."

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

"Twas fun to watch the Tynmites eat. The farm house meal was such a treat that they just ate and ate until they simply had to stop. 'Oh, gee,' cried Clowny, 'I have had so much food, I'm feeling bad. If I eat any more, I'm positive that I will drop.'"

"Me, too!" said Coppy. "This was rare. We've all had much more than our share. Let's help the farmer with some work to pay him for this treat. There must be something we can do. And we will do it real well, too! Perhaps he'll let us help him load up sacks of oats and wheat."

But Mister Farmer Man said, "No. There is no need for you to go out in the blazing sun and work. Just sit and rest a while. It's really one of our best joys to feed a band of hungry boys. We'll let you stay here over night and you can sleep in style."

To keep awake the whole bunch strived and then the Travel Man arrived. "I see you lads are sleepy," he exclaimed, amid a grin. "Well, you are promised real nice beds with in this house. So rest, your heads. I'll wake you very early so you'd better all turn in."

"Oh, my, but they slept mighty sound and when the sun came rolling round at very early morning they were up and on their way. They reached a train not very far from there, and jumped into a car. 'We'll be in Copenhagen,' said the Travel Man, 'today!'"

They reached the pretty city soon. In fact 'twas just about at noon. Right down the main streets they all walked. Ah, what a sight to see. Beside a big canal they stood and took in all the sights they could. Said Scouty, "We will like this place. It's wondrous as can be."

NORWAY'S INDEPENDENCE

On May 17, 1814, Norway, which for 400 years had been united with Denmark, was granted its independence.

Denmark, because of adhesion to the cause of Bonaparte, was compelled after the triumph of the allies, to purchase peace by abandoning its sovereignty over Norway. Crippled in her resources and almost bankrupt, Denmark was obliged to sign the Treaty of Kiel in 1814 by which she should resign Norway to Sweden and receive in return, by way of indemnity, some portion of Swedish Pomerania and the island of Rugen which were subsequently exchanged with Prussia for Lauesburg.

Ultimately the union with Sweden was made with the understanding that Norway should retain its newly promulgated constitution and enjoy full liberty and independence within its own boundaries. These conditions were agreed to and strictly maintained.

Norway became prosperous and developed a large commerce. This led to a demand for separate consular service and after several years of dispute, the Norwegians declared the union with Sweden dissolved in 1905. When the treaty of Karlstad confirmed this decision Prince Charles of Denmark was chosen king of Norway.

THAT modern business concerns realize that business comes where it is invited and stays where it is well treated.

Continuous newspaper advertising is a service every business concern owes to the community it serves.

BECAUSE it takes messages into every home that will make shopping easier.

BECAUSE advertising brings information about fashions, markets, and opportunities to save.

BECAUSE everyone knows in this day and time that continuous advertising is a guarantee of merit. No quality of advertised merchandise or service.

BECAUSE business concerns who are regular advertisers live up to their advertisements.

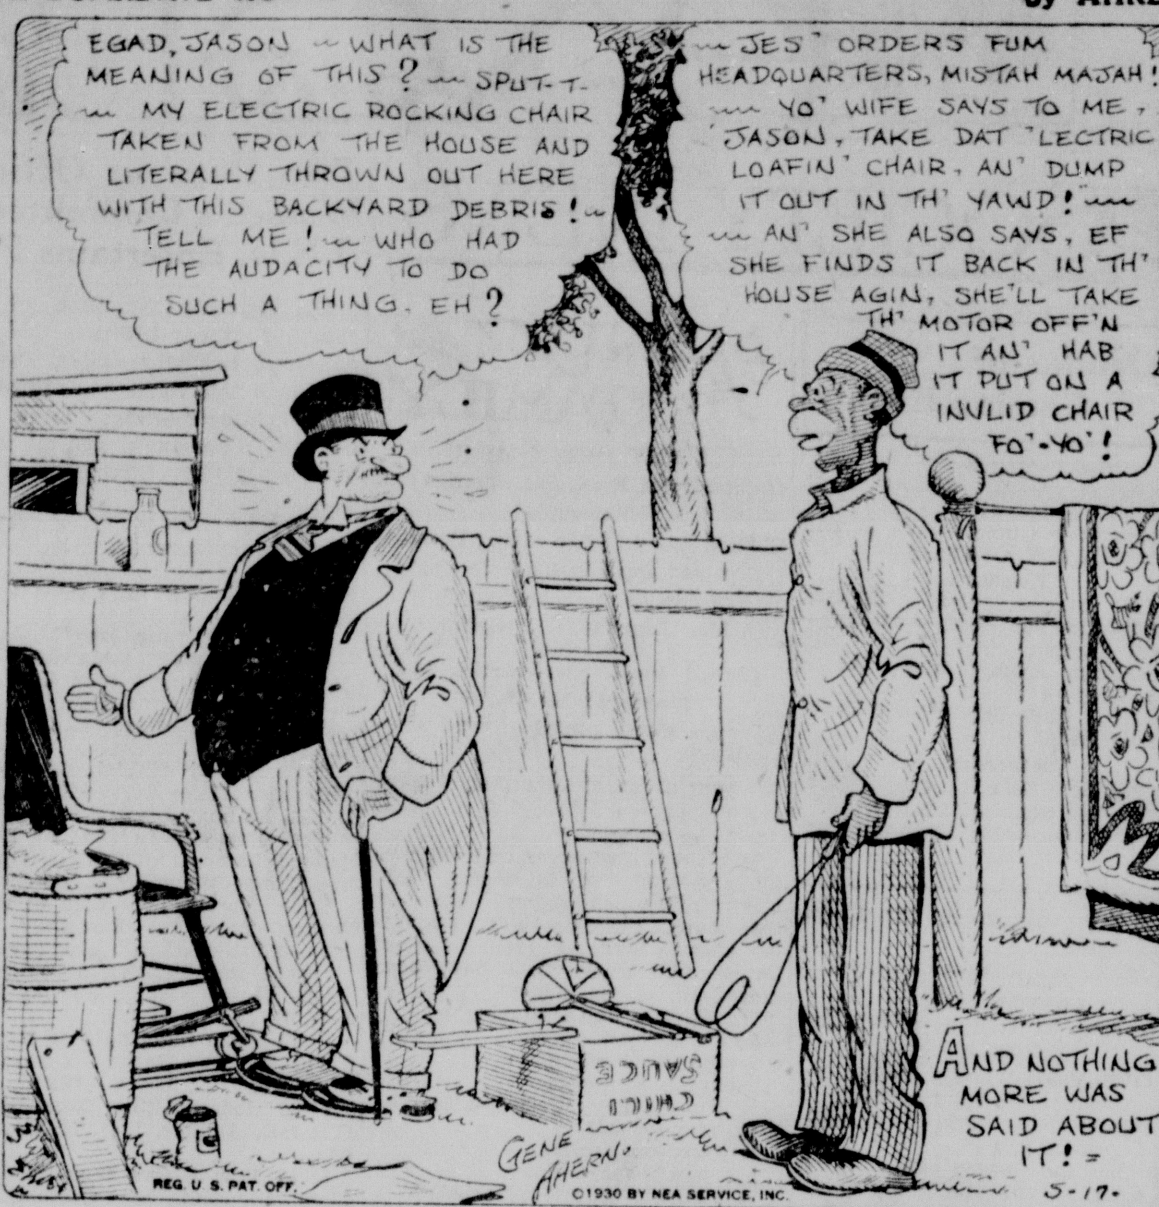

BECAUSE when you buy advertised goods you get the "best at the price."

No city can have prosperity where the citizens do not patronize each other.

A good way to make the home city a success is for every citizen to buy merchandise at the right place. The right place is from the business concerns in the home city who invite your business by advertising.

To make a city bigger, brighter and busier, citizens must patronize

The hollow steel wheel, with its glass sides, in which was juggled the fortunes of millions throughout the nation a half century ago when the great Louisiana Lottery was at its height, now rests in a New Orleans museum, having just been returned from Spanish Honduras, where it was taken when outlawed. Capital prizes of $300,000 were actually paid and prizes of $100,000 were common. Above are a typical lottery ticket, the wheel from which a blindfolded orphan drew the lucky numbers, Governor Francis T. Nicholls who outlawed the lottery and whom a bribe of $31,000 offered his leaders offered the state treasury couldn't buy, in veiling this offer Governor Nicholls, a heroic Confederate veteran who had lost an arm in the war, wrote: "At no time and under no circumstances will I permit one of my hands to aid in degrading what the other was lost seeking to uphold—the honor of my native state."

Baseball Gossip

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Just as the east had the edge in the first interseasonal play of the American League, the west held the upper hand in the opening east-west series of the National League, which came to its rather damp close yesterday. With only the Brooklyn Robins by 9 victories and 4 defeats upholding the honor of the Atlantic Seaboard, the west won 27 of the 49 interseasonal games against 22 eastern victories and placed three teams in the first four in the standing for the series.

Brooklyn captured first place through its 10 to 3 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday as Dizzy Vance pitched another of his fine games while the Brooklyn sluggers pounded out 16 hits and scored eight runs in the first three innings. This victory enabled Brooklyn to boast two clean sweeps, two games against Cincinnati and four against St. Louis.

Chicago and St. Louis, which opened the National League's second all-western series yesterday with the Cardinals' ninth successive victory, each one eight games and lost four to tie for second place. Cincinnati brought up in third place with eight victories and five defeats. The New York Giants led the second division in the interseasonal standing with seven victories and six defeats with Boston, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia bringing up far in the rear.

The National League game yesterday between the Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs was perhaps the best thrill producer, ending with a ninth inning St. Louis rally which brought a 9 to 8 victory. St. Louis led the heavy hitting with 21 blows.

The Boston Red Sox put on a lesser ninth inning rally to win the closest American League game by a 5 to 4 count from the New York Yankees. The Red Sox needed but one run to win after Bill Dickey's pinch home run had tied the score in the first half of the ninth and they made it.

Washington's Senators, with Bump Hadley and Ad Liska dividing the pitching burden in a brilliant fashion, scored more easily in both halves of a double header to take first place in the American League away from the Philadelphia Athletics. Hadley pitched steadily while the Senators hit freely to win the first contest, 5 to 3. In the second game, Liska held the world's champions to three hits in a close duel with George Earnshaw, winning out by a 4 to 0 count when Joe Judge cracked out a home run with two on base in the eighth inning.

Yesterday the big leagues got a better break from the weather although it was bad enough to hold the attendance down considerably. Of the five games on the brief schedule, only one, the final clash between the Phillies and Pittsburgh, was rained out.

SPORT BRIEFS

BY UNITED PRESS

New York—With his opponent throwing a spasm and collapsing in the ring, Midzei Wolgast of Philadelphia, recognized in New York State and Pennsylvania as world flyweight champion, successfully defended his title against Willie La More of Newark in a scheduled 15-round bout last night in Madison Square Garden.

The match ended at the close of the fifth round, when LaMore, starting for his corner, fell to the canvas, with his head twitching and his body quivering in a series of convulsions. His seconds carried him to his dressing room where physicians made an examination and announced that La More had suffered "a spasm of the heart brought on by a blow just under the heart." La More was soon revived and seemed to be all right when he left for home.

Philadelphia—The United States hopes of regaining the Davis Cup, lost to France in 1927, brightened today as the youthful stars selected for the 1930 campaign started preparations for the final American Zone match against Mexico at Washington, D. C., next week.

The United States advanced to the final round of zone competition yesterday, defeating Canada three matches to none. The final two singles matches today, will have no effect on the series.

John Van Ryn scored the opening victory for America by beating Dr. Jack Wright in the singles, 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, and he paired with Wilmer Allison to beat Dr. Wright and Willard Crocker in the doubles, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

George Lott scored a straight set victory over Marcel Rainville of Montreal in the other singles match, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6.

Louisville, Ky.—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, defeated Paul Swiderski of Syracuse, N. Y., in a ten-round bout here last night, after the fight took on the semblance of a brawl in the early rounds.

Swiderski knocked Walker down three times in the first round and was so anxious to score a knockout that he slugged Walker after the bell. Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, jumped into the ring and punched Swiderski. Harry Lenney, manager of Swiderski, rushed at Kearns and the referee called police into the ring to stop the fighting.

The Syracuse heavy again knocked down the middleweight champion in the third. Walker floored Swiderski twice in the third round, once after the bell.

Walker won all of the last five rounds and was clearly entitled to the verdict. Walker weighed 167½, Swiderski 178½.

Endicott, N. Y.—The final obstacle to the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey bout at Yankee Stadium, June 12, for the world heavyweight championship, was removed today with receipt of the German fighter's license from the New York State Athletic Commission. Schmeling was suspended "for life" by the boxing commission last year when he refused to fight Phil Scott.

because of its

Balancer and new-type

Smoothness is an outstanding quality of Pontiac performance—because Pontiac design includes those features essential to smooth operation.

The 60-horsepower motor operates at moderate engine speed when developing maximum power. The 53-pound crankshaft is counterweighted and has the Harmonic Balancer to offset torsional vibration. The crankcase is heavily ribbed to retain the main bearings in accurate alignment. And the engine is insulated from the frame by rubber mountings.

You can sense the result of these quality features the minute you take the wheel of the Pontiac Big Six—smoothness at low speeds; smoothness when accelerating; smoothness when the throttle is open wide! And smoothness is the distinguishing characteristic of a well designed, up-to-date automobile!

The Husband Hunter

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NATALIE CONVERSE tries to convince Alan to leave her for her husband ALAN. But they quarrel over BURNING LAMONY, a night club hostess, who asks him to look after Bobby, whose father had saved Alan's life during the war. Alan feels sympathy for his secretary, PHILIPPA WEST, who successfully schemes to arouse Natalie's suspicions and convince Alan to leave her.

Natalie regrets her past action. She does not write to Alan, hoping with her to return. Her silence spurs him on with Philip, who helps make him feel wanted and abused. They are seen together constantly, and Philip, feeling that he does not intend to propose marriage, tells him her parents object to her going with a married man and because Alan has been so long in the army, his parents are not so fond of him as he is of them.

Confronting her family with the fact of her engagement, Philip's father becomes threatening. Natalie, who is returning to her home in Illinois, without, however, mentioning a reconciliation, Philip resents this in result to her new relationship with Alan.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVI
MRS. JAYHUNTER's letter to Alan threw him into a mare of conflicting emotions. He received it at his hotel in the morning and read it in the breakfast room over his untouched orange juice. His conclusion about Natalie's return until then, had been that she was coming back to effect a property settlement with him and arrange for a divorce.

But now her mother said she was coming to effect a reconciliation. He stared at the letter, as though he didn't believe what was written there. Certainly Mrs. Jayhunter had been frank.

And Alan knew that she was not being humorous when she wrote: "I hope you two will realize that quarreling is only a waste of your energy, and turn to the real purpose of marriage, having devoted years of care to Natalie's rearing. I now expect her to present me with a grandchild."

Alan snorted over that, but as he read on, he forgot about Natalie's refusal to hear children, and began to wonder if she really was back to take up their life together again.

At first he was inclined to believe his mother-in-law was trying to patch up things by tricking him—if she could get him to go to Natalie, "she'd take a chance on the rest," he reasoned. But almost instantly he rejected the thought. Mrs. Jayhunter knew he would see Natalie. And if she weren't in a receptive mood, he would soon find it out.

But would he see Natalie? She hadn't mentioned a meeting. Perhaps it would all be done through lawyers.

He was surprised at the let down in his spirits that this idea brought him. Ridiculous! Of course, he would see her!

But was it possible that her said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, bondholders or other securities than as so stated by him.

CHILDHOOD TUBERCULOSIS

By Dr. H. E. Kleinschmidt,
Director of Education,
National Tuberculosis Association.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1321 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Childhood tuberculosis is to be distinguished from the adult type—so-called consumption. It is the early stage of adult type tuberculosis. It is not itself dangerous to the child, if proper precautions are taken. The reason it is especially emphasized in present-day health work is that its discovery marks a child as one who should be given special care to prevent later development of the adult type—the type that kills.

How is tuberculosis discovered? Any group of children can be divided into three classes: first, those who are absolutely free of the bacillus; second, those who have been infected with tuberculosis; third, those who have been infected and have progressed to the childhood type. The first class grows smaller from year to year, as its members join the other two. The second class—merely infected—are in no danger whatever. It is the third group, those with childhood tuberculosis, from which half the later cases of active adult type mother was right, and she wanted a reconciliation?

Something like the wordless joy in a spring day came to him as he asked himself this question, something like the push of a blade of grass up through snow moistened soil, something like the murmur for nature's ears alone, of the buds bursting into bloom.

With Alan it manifested itself in a desire to get up and do something. Had he indulged his desire, he might have danced a buck and wing, thrown his hat into the air or gone out to face two dragons.

Home again! With Natalie! Would it be great?

Suddenly he sighed, and drank his orange juice. No use indulging in day dreams. Surely Natalie would have told him she wanted to see him if she had anything like that in her mind.

To offset this discouraging angle, he began to wonder why she wanted to open the house, and encase a maid, if she did not expect to stay. Hip, perhaps that was why she wasn't getting a cook too.

She would have to have a maid to help her close the place permanently. Of course, she didn't believe he had done it properly. And she might be moving into an apartment in New York. She could take the maid.

No, it didn't mean anything, her return to the house. He pushed aside the grilled bacon and eggs the waiter brought, and left the table.

BEFORE he reached the office he had convinced himself that whatever possibility there was to start over again with Natalie was as remote to her as it was to him. He didn't believe she planned anything but the best way to settle things.

Still there was about him a suppressed air of eagerness, when he met Philip, that augmented the condition of fear she had worked herself into overnight.

Whatever he thought about his wife's return, she told herself, one thing was certain; Alan was getting a thrill out of anticipating it. Well, Natalie shouldn't have him back. She shouldn't. She shouldn't.

Philip felt herself growing hysterical. She turned abruptly and walked away from Alan. It might have infuriated her further, if she had known he did not notice the abruptness.

But, common sense returning to her as she sat, hard-eyed and hard-mouthed, at her desk, she realized she could gain nothing by being belligerent. A quarrel with Alan a break, and there would be no making up. She felt certain of it. Her only appeal to him was in nothing but on his honor, and keeping his word.

She got up and took some of her work over to one of the stenographers.

"Can you get these letters finished in half an hour, Miss Brice?" she asked.

Miss Brice looked up with a frown, an objection ready on her lips. But one glance at Philip's darkened countenance convinced her that a little extra work no matter what the imposition be, it was better than a battle.

She nodded, and reached out her hand for the notebook that Philip had put on her desk.

"Come to me if there's anything that isn't clear," Philip said.

"Well," Miss Brice thought, "if you aren't going to be so busy I can't interrupt you, why don't you do them yourself?"

She felt a little better when she saw Philip go to another girl with a stack of papers in her hand, and leave them on the girl's desk.

Then Philip went back to her own desk, and brooded over the situation that faced her. She knew it was more doubtful than she had thought. Last night Alan had at least kissed her and he hadn't been so "steamed up over Natalie."

FINALLY she got up and went into his private office. Alan looked up questioningly from his papers. Philip stood timidly before him and said, "I'm sorry to disturb you, Alan, but we won't have a better time to talk, and there's something I want to discuss with you this morning."

"What's the matter with lunch together and talking then?" Alan asked. He was a little disquieted by her words. "Something I want to discuss with you" sounded ominous. It made him uneasy because of his uneasiness, he made the suggestion for lunching together.

Philip shook her head. "Have you forgotten that you're lunching with Mr. Royden and Mr. Adams?" She glanced at her watch. "They're coming in, about eleven. A little conference before lunch." She smiled. The "little conference," she knew, was a very important one that might keep them there until late, while they settled the fate of one Payton Payne, after which they would join lunch.

Later Payne would learn that he was, if not ruined, at least badly damaged. Royden and Adams would do it, of course. Alan wasn't big enough. But they had needed him on this occasion.

Philip smiled, because she loved these pitiless battles of Wall Street. She was becoming convinced that Alan did not love her. She more than suspected that he loved Natalie. And yet she wanted him. Just as these men wanted Payne's dollars. She felt she had a right to take what she could get, just as they did.

Only she forgot that these men were fighting under a banner, gravely at least. Everyone in the world, who knew that they were there for "They were all after the same thing. Payne among them. When it was all over, he wouldn't be any more bitter than he had a right to be.

But Philip had never worn sword or shield. She had fought from ambush. She was doing it now following out the plan she had conceived at her desk.

"I'm moving away from home," she said, to begin the "discussion." Alan stared at her.

"I've had trouble with father," she explained, and Alan heard her catch her breath in a sob.

"But, why, I thought..." he began. Philip interrupted him. She was turning his ring upon her finger, drawing attention to it.

she said, to begin the "discussion."

Alan stared at her.

"I've had trouble with father," she explained, and Alan heard her catch her breath in a sob.

"But, why, I thought..." he began. Philip interrupted him. She was turning his ring upon her finger, drawing attention to it.

"It satisfied mother that you're really going to marry me, Alan," she said brokenly; "but Dad won't believe it. So I'm leaving."

"But Philip, where are you going?"

"Oh, I don't know," she cried helplessly. "I don't know what to do. It's dreadful, when you've never lived alone before. Oh, of course, I know thousands of girls are doing it right here in New York, and we'll have some place to see each other then, without being out all the time, but I just feel as if I were forsaken, or something. I suppose it's having father abuse me that did it."

The appeal to Alan was not in vain. But he didn't want to feel tender toward her, so he coughed his answer crisply.

"Nonsense," he said; "there's no reason why you should feel that anyone has forsaken you. We'll find you
